The officiating division of Hockey Nova Scotia is pleased to announce John Turnbull has been appointed as the Southern Conference - Supervision Coordinator. John will join Peter MacDonald, Northern Conference - Supervision Coordinator, to form an experienced and strong team to lead this component of the officiating program.

John brings a wealth of experience to the game. He has been in the officiating program for a number of years both as an active official and clinic instructor. He is a teacher with the Halifax Regional School Board and this experience will serve him well as he puts those experiences into the officiating program.

The role of the supervision coordinator is to lead in the development and training of future "game supervisors" across the Province. The team also has the responsibility of scheduling and coordinating the supervision of officials in the Province. The recruitment of good quality game supervisors is essential in having the HNS officiating program move forward.

John and Peter are excited for this opportunity to form a strong team and look forward to the many challenges ahead. They both bring a passion and knowledge to the officiating program that will help foster the growth of officiating in Nova Scotia.

On behalf of all members of the Officiating Division of HNS I would like to wish John and Peter the best of success as they work to further develop the officiating program.

Sincerely,

Randy Pulsifer
